AUCTION FOR FIREWORKS NOVEMBER 5

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 13 — Date for the annual Porterville Exchange club auction through which the club finances a fireworks display on July Fourth has been set for Saturday, November 5, on the Moore Transfer lot at Olive and Villa, 1 p.m.

Money raised from the auction of donated items goes into a club fund for purchase of material for the patriotic fireworks display in Jamison stadium on the Fourth of July. The first program, presented without charge last Fourth of July, drew the greatest crowd ever assembled in Porterville for a single evening event.

Items to be auctioned are being donated by business firms and individuals of the community. Anything — old or new — is acceptable, according to Ray Holloway, Exchange club member and auctioneer.

Holloway will pick up any item

BAIRD-NEECE CORPORATION EXPANDS WITH PURCHASE OF STRATHMORE HOUSE

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 13 — Expansion of the Baird-Neece corporation in Porterville into one of Central California's largest citrus packing organizations by purchase of the Strathmore District Orange association at Strathmore was announced this week.

Combined potential of the Baird-Neece organization is now approximately 1,000 cars annually and bearing acreage now serviced by the firm will be supplemented in the next several years as substantial young citrus acreage comes into production.

The Baird-Neece citrus operation was started in Porterville in 1946 by Bill Baird and Dick Neece, who state that the company has increased its business four times during its 14 years of operation. Expansion was necessary, it is stated, in order to take care of expanding business and new acreage that will be coming on.

Neece and Baird have been associated with the citrus industry for a period of 35 years, and have worked together for about 25 years. The Baird-Neece corpora-

Sharman will arrive in Porterville Friday morning to spend some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sharman, and to renew old acquaintances, among them some of the boys he played with at Porterville high school back in the early 1940s.

Along with other stars of the Celtics and Lakers, Sharman will appear between halves at the Porterville high school-Bakersfield Driller football game in Jamison stadium on Friday night.

Editorial Comment

TAX EXEMPTION TREND CONTINUES

Since we consider taxation as a means through which people finance their government, and not some kind of penalty that people are forced to pay, we always look with concern on claims for tax exemption of privately-owned property.

However, trend toward tax exemption seems to be continuing in California, with John W. Lynch, chairman of the state board of equalization reporting this week that in the state of California the 1960 assessed value of privately owned property exempted from taxation amounts to $1,546,147,000, a gain of more than $73,000,000 over 1959.

Lynch further points out that the amount of tax-free property represents $1.00 for every $17.00 of taxable valuation on locally-assessed rolls, and does not include publicly-owned property.

Included in the category of tax exempt individuals and groups are 1,169,000 veterans; 3,566 "welfare" properties owned by hospitals, schools, religious and charitable organizations. In addition, 13,614 churches in California receive tax exemptions, along with 127 privately owned colleges.

When we start building a case for tax exemptions, it is difficult to find a stopping point. Yet each time property is exempted, it means that other property must pick up a share of that exemption.

If we agree that taxes should be considered as a means of financing government; that all individuals and organizations share in that government; and if we agree that taxes should not be looked upon as a penalty or as a means for "equalizing the wealth" through "soaking of the rich", then we must further agree that a complete reappraisal of the tax exemption qualifications are in order.

In fact, it is our personal opinion that we might well consider the elimination of all property tax exemptions.

And that, after this is done, taxes be reduced proportionately to the increased amount of taxable value gained.

Glass Menagerie To Be Presented By College Group

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 13 — "The Glass Menagerie", by Tennessee Williams, will be presented by the Porterville College Drama department on October 21, 22, and 29, in the Crowsnest theater on the college campus. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The story is about a tenement house of the 1930's — of the economic and moral struggle of a certain typical family of that period.

The action of the story actually takes place in the memory of one Tom Wingfield, portrayed by Larry Barnett. Tom remembers the many hardships suffered by him in connection with his mother (Mary Simpson), and how he finally solved his problems.

He remembers his very timid sister (Nina Bean), and the many painful experiences she had in trying to adjust to "modern" society, especially when she was expected to receive and entertain "gentleman callers". The "gentleman caller" for whom everyone waits is played by Roger Lehman.

WATERFOWL SEASON OPENS ON SATURDAY

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 13 — The 67-day split waterfowl season opens next Saturday, October 15, in most of California, except small areas in the extreme north and south of the state.

These areas — the Tule lake-Lower Klamath Refuge area and the area along the Colorado river — will have straight seasons, like those of the states they border, that began Tuesday, October 11, and will end January 8.

Shooting hours on opening days will start at noon. Otherwise shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The split season's first half will run through November 20. After a 19-day interval, the second half will open at noon on Saturday, December 10, and run through Sunday, January 8.

Daily bag and possession limit on ducks will be six, statewide, except in the northern and southern 90-day areas where the bag and possession limits will be the same as in adjoining states — four ducks per day, eight in possession.

Canvasback and redhead ducks are totally protected on all flyways this year and Ross's goose remains a protected species.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Meningitis Not Inherited

• Jaw Click

Q. What is spinal meningitis and is there a cure? Is there any danger or possible risk to offspring of a person who has had the disease? Is insanity the eventual outcome of meningitis?

A. Spinal meningitis is inflammation of the cellophane-like covering of the spinal cord. Meningitis occurs when the spinal canal is invaded by germs or virus. With modern drug therapy the outlook for a person with meningitis is far better than it was only a few years ago. In severe cases there may be some after effects but insanity is hardly one of them. Meningitis is not "handed down" or inherited.

Q. I have recently developed quite a click in the right side of my jaw. It is loud enough to be embarrassing when I eat. Would you advise treatment or will it go away?

A. Many people have this experience at times. There is no cause for alarm, provided the jaw functions in a normal manner. It is very likely that the click will disappear in time. If not, a competent oral surgeon should be consulted.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y., will be answered in these columns when possible.

on a strong agriculture — not only farmers, but workers, business men, and professional men as well. That is why I will always, as a State Assemblyman, support legislation designed to strengthen our farm economy and oppose legislation designed to weaken it.

I believe sincerely in the principle of individual enterprise, with the role of government being to guarantee to all people an opportunity to earn a fair return from their investment and from their work. Because I believe this, I will, as a State Assemblyman, oppose legislation that seeks to regiment and control farmers, or any other segment of the economy.

More specifically, I will oppose vicious, one-sided legislation such as the notorious AB 419 that seeks to open the gate for labor bosses and racketeers; I will support legislation that prohibits lawless and irresponsible labor bossism in our fields and in our business houses.

I will oppose regulation of wages by state law that places our people in an unfair competitive position with other sections of the nation.

Because water is so essential to our life in California, and particularly in Tulare and Kings counties, I will work for legislation to secure and assure an adequate water supply for present and future needs of our state, and especially of our two counties.

I will always work for the kind of economy in government that will give taxpayers their money's worth. I will oppose the trend toward continued expansion of big government, with its inevitable domination of our private lives. As a State Assemblyman, I will seek the advise of the people of the 35th Assembly district on legislation concerning the district, and organized groups within the district.

My allegiance will always be to the people of Tulare and Kings counties, not to a political machine.

"Corns and calluses may have an emotional origin," declared Dr. Jack T. Sanders, a California podiatrist, at a meeting of the American Podiatry Association.

He said that bursitis and inflammation of tendon sheaths can also result from emotional tension.

It is true that emotional disturbances can cause a wide range of physical disorders. Not only those mentioned by Dr. Sanders, but indigestion, ulcers, rheumatoid arthritis, and other ailments.

What to do? Going to the foot specialist and having him look at your corns isn't enough. Having a surgeon operate on your ulcerated stomach isn't enough. We must find the cause of your emotional disturbance.

Why are you upset? Why don't you whistle as you work? Why do people "get on your nerves"? What makes you tense, depressed, anxious? Fear and frustration, probably. Lack of confidence — in yourself or others. Lack of faith in God, that robs you of hope and joy.

Dr. C. G. Jung once wrote, "Among all my patients over 35, there has not been one whose problem was not that of finding a religious outlook on life."

Sure, show the podiatrist your corns. Have your ulcers excised. Chances are you'll still be "nervous" and unhappy. Gremlins of remorse and regret will still bother you. That neighbor you cheated, that wife you divorced, that friend you betrayed will still haunt you.

The reason is, no man can be truly happy who is not truly good.

How does one gain genuine goodness? The answer can only be found on your knees.

For your comfort, here's Christ's gracious promise to you: "Let not your heart be troubled." He healed and helped the cripples, the blind, the anxious and the fearful. You can safely cast your cares upon Him.

AERONAUTICS, RUG MAKING CLASSES SET

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 13 — Two new classes have been organized in the adult school program of the Porterville Union High School and college district, according to R. R. Reising, adult school director.

A class in aeronautics held its first meeting last night in room B-4 on the Porterville College Campus. A class in rug making will hold its organizational meeting at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, October 19, in room D-13 on the Porterville High School campus.

Remaining places in the aeronautics class will be filled in the order of application, Reising said. Chet Powers, a licensed ground school and flight instructor, will conduct the class which will interest both the flying public and pilots who are preparing to take the FAA written examination.

Mrs. Stella Kirk will conduct the rug class, which will be devoted to hooked rugs only. Persons interested in enrolling may do so at the first class meeting, or contact the adult school office at SUNset 4-7000, Reising said. A minimum enrollment of 15 persons is necessary to sustain the class.

Mrs. Kirk will instruct the class in basic techniques and materials, and move toward more complex patterns. Room D-13 is reached most easily from Jaye Street, near the bus shed and woodshop buildings, Reising said.

YOUR LEGISLATOR
AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

Properly, I suppose one can't use the phrase "no man's land" about problems connected with air transportation, but it has been asserted that a segment of airline operation within California exists over which neither the state or federal government has control, so, is, in fact, "no man's air." As a result, a resolution was adopted calling for a study of the matter by the Assembly Committee on Public Utilities and Corporations. This group recently held the start of a series of meetings on the matter.

The interrelationship between state and federal controls in aeronautical affairs is not terribly complicated, but according to testimony presented to the committee, our state public utilities commission has received numerous complaints from the general public concerning service of airlines which is purely intrastate, that is, which originates and terminates within California. Neither our state commission nor the civil aeronautics board now has jurisdiction in the area, it was stated.

When the federal civil aeronautics law was enacted in 1938, complete jurisdiction over the entire airspace of the United States was given to the authority created by the act. This five-member authority had broad powers to adopt civil air regulations relating to air traffic safety, which powers were transferred to its successor, the civil aeronautics board. Such regulations have been adopted, and in 1956 the federal courts held that such action has reserved all action in the field of aircraft safety to the federal government.

We of the Legislature acted in 1957 to spell out clearly and concisely the fact that the federal government has sole and complete authority and responsibility to regulate and control all aircraft in flight and the use of the established airways. However, it was said that the numerous complaints received by our state commission indicate need for state legislation to remedy the situation so far as intrastate air transportation is concerned. Schedule reliability, dropping of stops, ticketing practice, and ticket sales office locations were named as examples of complaint causes.

Suggestions that some sort of legislation be enacted in this field are not new. Several times since the end of World War II the matter has received legislative consideration, but no law was enacted. A couple of times it was proposed that regulatory power be given to the state aeronautics commission, rather than to the public utilities commission.

Proponents of legislation point to the fact that some twelve or fourteen other states have laws on the subject. Another argument in favor of such legislation is that its enactment will give the state authority to prevent abandonment of service to many smaller communities all over the state. Successful state supervision of intrastate operations of interstate railroads was also mentioned.

Opposition to any legislation in the field came from many airlines, but not from all. As might be expected, the principal reason given was that such law is not necessary. Airlines whose principal operations are in interstate commerce said that it would be unnecessary duplication for federal authority, and so could only create conflict and confusion. It was also maintained that open competition between airlines on a service basis will correct the conditions which have been causing complaints.

Since air travel and air transportation of goods are now an integral part of our economy, and both are growing even faster than our population, their availability and reliability are of basic importance to every California community, even those not directly served by airlines. Whatever may be the recommendations which the committee will make, they will be awaited with great interest.

SEPTEMBER FOOTBALL TRAGEDY EXTENDS INTO OCTOBER, BUT MAYBE

The September tragedy has extended into October as the township's two pigskin squads, the PC Pirates and PUHS Panthers, have failed to bring home the bacon on four consecutive weekends. Between the two schools they have accumulated a massive total of seven losses.

On the bright side of the ledger we have Coach Bob Otto's Cub squad on the Olive street campus. The Cubs are unbeaten in three starts and could capture the Central Yosemite league crown at their present rate of speed. The lightweights are thinly manned, but crew-cut squarely built Mr. Otto has made the most of his material and presents highly entertaining football. His squad numbers less than 30, and of the 30, the load is carried by about 16 rock-ribbed individuals. The youngsters have sported a volatile offense in their first three winning efforts that is backed by a bulldog, determined defense. So, lest you become too disheartened by the varsity contests, come out an hour or so early Friday night and take in the Cub contest.

During the past weekend we sat through a drab PC Pirate-Reedley Pirate contest at Jamison stadium. We arrived late in the second quarter, having first attended a wedding. We left the contest with six minutes left in the fourth quarter to hunt another wedding to attend. The under-manned and inexperienced Pirates dropped a no-contest game with the previously winless Reedley outfit, and looked beaten and disheartened in doing so. You can lay a lot of things off on inexperience, but unwillingness to tackle is not one of them. There were times Saturday night when there was quite a lot of traffic directing and little tackling going on.

The Pirate schedule has been a gravy train to date. In the five remaining contests the Pirates meet the likes of Taft, COS, Fresno, Allen Hancock, and Yuba. All are hard-nosed rugged outfits with plenty of top talent on the field and bench. We would like to see the Pirates hitch up their pants and become a really representative football team. You can look good even while losing.

The PUHS Panthers unveiled a passing attack Saturday night in Bakersfield, but failed to stop the East Bakersfield Blade long-gainer and as a result dropped their third consecutive contest of the season.

The Panthers jump from the frying pan to the fire as they entertain the Bakersfield Drillers at home Friday night, and it will take all the king's horses and all the king's men, as the saying goes. After that the schedule eases up a bit as the locals step into Central Yosemite league competition. This Panther outfit will have progressed a long way by then, and we think they will win their share of league contests.

The Panthers take on the Drillers Friday night under the lights at Jamison Stadium. The Drillers dropped their last contest to the Delano Tigers and the Panthers are the team, that, with a few breaks, could make it two losses in a row for the usually rugged oil-town eleven. Saturday night the P.C. Pirates take on the red-hot Allen Hancock squad from Santa Marie in Porterville. The Bulldogs are enjoying the unusual position of league leadership as they knocked over the highly rated COS Giants last weekend while the Fresno City College Rams were losing to a supposedly so-so Taft Cougar outfit.

"I build all kinds... but I live in a Medallion home"

MR. KEN WILLIAMS, SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BUILDER AND HOME OWNER

"I could live in any kind of home I want, but I prefer my home built to Medallion Award standards. My wife, of course, goes for the all-electric kitchen. It's cooler and cleaner, easy to take care of. Since she helps me in my business, she needs a kitchen that's fast to work in. She gets it all in our Medallion kitchen."

"Most of my customers want Medallion Award homes, too. They've learned what I know: If the home you buy or build bears the Medallion, you'll have all the comforts of modern electric living, with lasting value."

Ken Williams, an expert builder who practices what he preaches, lives in his own Medallion Award home.

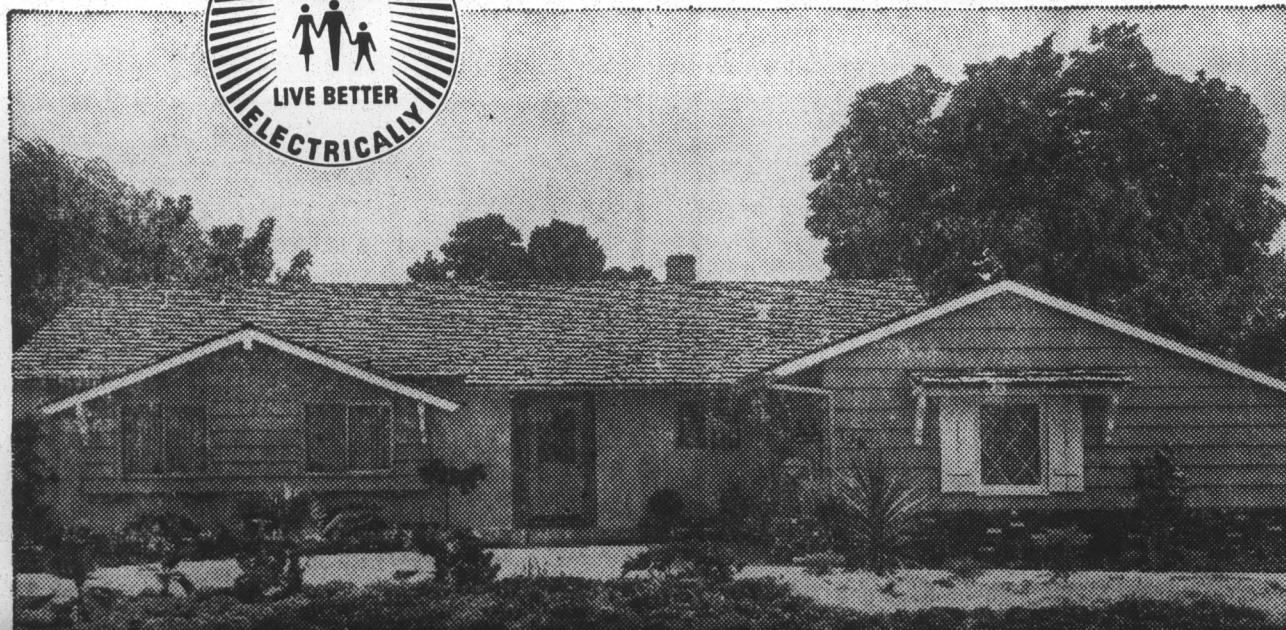

Only one new home in five qualifies for the Medallion—an Award which assures you

1. All-electric kitchen, equipped with major electric appliances, including flameless range and oven.
2. Housepower wiring for modern electric living.
3. Light for Living—abundant light designed for comfort, safety and beauty.

The Gold Medallion Award includes these Medallion features and more. For total electric living, the Gold Medallion adds:

4. Flameless electric space and water heating.

We Only Heard
BY BILL RODGERS

SOME OF the loyal Porterville college fans were contemplating and cogitating Saturday night in Jamison stadium about the "old days", a few years back, when foot-stomping on the metal stadium roared like thunder, when a call against the home team, right or wrong, was greeted by a tremendous wave of boos, when officials at college games were demanding protection in order to get off the field if Porterville lost. Back in those days Porterville was winning its share of games, playing interesting football, and looking good most of the time even when they lost. And the stands were full, or close to full, when the college played.

NOW, WITH the college losing regularly, but in a sportsmanlike manner, with the fans performing as ladies and gentlemen should, with boozing and foot-stomping a forgotten art, only the faithful are sitting through the evening, and their number is dwindling.

AS WE say, we were only contemplating and cogitating, but those old days, good or bad, were interesting days in Jamison stadium, and, good or bad, we'd sort of like to see a little of the old days in these new days.

AND SPEAKING of the college, we had the pleasure of talking about the Republican party this week in front of Lee Clearman's classes, while Joe Soares, from Tulare, upheld the honor of the Democrats. Of course we didn't agree on very many things, but there was one bit of Democrat reasoning presented that we just can't buy, and we hope our young people going through our schools aren't buying. That was, in effect, the idea that the Democrats are protecting all the little people, including the students we were talking to, from those great big bad business men; that those students sitting there didn't have a chance against these big bad guys because they didn't have any money, and could expect to get nothing but kicked in the teeth if they have to go out into a competitive economic system without the protection of the Democrat program at the federal level.

THIS WAS interesting to us, because this same type of negative, and defeatist thinking was being expressed back in the days when we were attending Porterville college, except the angle was a little different. Then we were told that it was a cruel, hard world, that there were no jobs for us when we graduated, that we were whipped before we started.

BUT AS we sat in this college class this week, we thought back over the years, comparing dire predictions with actual happenings. From that group of students 30 years ago who were supposed by some to be hopelessly whipped but who didn't believe it, have come successful business men, a couple of boys who formed and now head business corporations, a number of successful farmers, a couple of top scientists, one top military man, several educators, several people in professional fields, a number who in addition to their business and professional activities, have found time to contribute their time and effort as community leaders in a number of areas of activity.

THIS HAPPENED because throughout the history of this nation, young people have had ambition, ability, courage, desire — and we think they still have it. We hope, yes we believe, that students with the ability to go through college, also have the ability

MORE FARMERS WHO FARM THE "GREEN-WAY"

Meet the Falconer family who are now busily engaged in harvesting their more than 400 acres of cotton with the two John Deere pickers you see pictured here. In addition to the lint, they also grow most of the feed fed to their 180 cow dairy herd which like their cotton is far above the average in production. Left to right they are: Harry, Don and Murray Falconer, and Art Falconer.

FARMING IS STILL A FAMILY AFFAIR

... AT THE A. M. FALCONER & SONS RANCH

Contrary to predictions, mechanization has not meant the end of the family farm, but has in fact given it a new lease on life.

Take the Falconer ranch for instance. But for machinery, it might still be a typical yesteryear self-sufficient, produce-for-yourself type of farm instead of the modern agribusiness operation that it is today.

Proof that farming can still be a family enterprise providing the right kind of equipment is employed.

And, by the right kind of equipment we mean machines that are in pace with the times. Like those you see above, which as a matter of fact, are years ahead of it.

To be sure, their advanced design, economy of operation and ability to get all the cotton worth picking is why profit minded farmers, like the Falconers, are buying them in ever increasing numbers. Look around and notice how many more you see in the fields this fall.

Then, come on in and let us show you how you can get on the profit side of farming. Remember, farmers who farm for profit — are our best customers.

A little extra attention to vegetables gives budget meals an elegant lift. To point up the fresh color and flavor of frozen green peas, cook them French style with lettuce, mint and onion. Peas go from package to table in less than 10 minutes, fancy dress and all!

Frozen Green Peas, French Style

1 10-ounce package frozen green peas	2 teaspoons finely minced onion
2 tablespoons water	1 small sprig mint
1/2 teaspoon salt	1/2 head lettuce, shredded
1/2 teaspoon sugar	1 tablespoon butter
	2 tablespoons cream

Drop frozen peas into saucepan with the water, salt, sugar, onion and mint. Cover and bring to a boil quickly over high heat, separating the block of frozen peas with a fork, if necessary, to hasten thawing (takes 2 to 3 minutes). When peas are separated, scoop half of lettuce under the peas and place remainder on top. Cover, reduce heat to medium, just enough to keep peas simmering gently, and cook until peas are just tender, about 5 minutes. Add butter and cream and serve at once. Yield: 3 servings.

ity to understand that when they allow government to get into a position to give "the people" what somebody thinks the people need, regardless of whether or not the people want it, then the entire system of individual enterprise eventually breaks down into a welfare state that of necessity dominates and controls the people, and government becomes the master, rather than the servant, of the people.

WE BELIEVE that young people of today, if they think the problem through, will ask from their government, only a chance to compete on a fair basis; we think young people still want an opportunity to go as far as their abilities and drive will take them. We think young people, just as they have through the years, will find the answers to the problems of their time; we hope and believe that young people will not sell their individual freedom for a promised handout from any political party.

FROM OBSERVATION and experience, we are convinced that the problems of successful living, the problems of economics, are no greater, comparatively, than they were 30 years ago; they are only different.

AND WE are sure that sitting in Porterville college classes today are not a group of "little people" who must rely on government beneficence to succeed, but young people who through their own abilities and determination will succeed in their chosen fields under a system of individual enterprise, just as those students of 30 years ago have done.

YOUNG PEOPLE of today face the smooth and misleading promises of the exponents of the welfare state, along with the deriding of our great system of individual enterprise. But when the chips are down, we think youth will accept the challenge of economic competition; youth will reject the welfare program of handout government.

IF WE are wrong, then America has had it.

State Historical Society Director To Speak Oct. 29

VISALIA, Oct. 13 — The Tulare County Historical society will hold a dinner meeting on Saturday evening, October 29, at 6:30 o'clock, at the Hotel Johnson, with the principal speaker being Donald C. Biggs, director of the California Historical society with headquarters in San Francisco.

His topic will be "Presidential Potluck: The Tradition of Political Horse Trading." It will deal with the promises made during election campaigns and what happens to them later.

Biggs, a student of history and politics, is a graduate of Stanford and has done graduate work at Guadalajara University, Mexico, and the University of Minnesota. When appointed to the position of director of the California Historical society he was on the faculty of San Francisco State college.

Reply cards are being sent to the members of the Tulare County Historical society for reservations. The public is invited to attend, and those interested may make reservations by post card directed to the secretary, Miss Annie Mitchell, 701 Watson Avenue, Visalia. Reservations should be made by October 24th. The price of the dinner will be $2.75 per plate.

Sharman And

With the Celtic-Laker game sponsored by Porterville college and the Porterville Quarterback club, tickets are moving fast, with 1,500 reported sold early this week. With a 2,100-seat capacity in the gymnasium, indications point toward a "standing room only" crowd.

The late time of the game — 10 p.m. — was set so that local sports fans could attend both the Porterville-Bakersfield football game and the Celtic-Laker basketball game.

Appearing in action with Sharman will be his great running mate of the Celtics — Bob Cousy. And Celtic Coach Red Auerbach will probably also be using Gene Conley, who is also league pitcher with the Philadelphia Phillies; Tommy Heinsohn, K. C. Jones, Sam Jones, Jim Loscutoff, Frank Ramsey and the great Bill Russell.

In the Laker lineup will be the man rated by some as the greatest all-around basketball player in the world today — Elgin Baylor; Hot Rod Hundley, considered the equal to any ball-handler who ever played in the professional league; Bob Leonard, Fred Schaus, Rudy LaRusso, Tom Hawkins, Jim Krebs and Jerry West.

Tickets can still be purchased from Edd Ashley or Bob Reisig for the Celtic-Laker game, as well as from other members of the Porterville Quarterback club.

Only one man will be needed to operate this gigantic stripping shovel which will be the world's largest mobile land machine. Size comparisons are fantastic . . . it will reach as high as the deck of the Golden Gate Bridge . . . stand 45 feet higher than Niagara Falls. Total height is 220 feet from ground to boom point, or that of a 20-story building!

Almost twice the size of any excavator ever built, it will scoop out 173 tons of earth, deposit it 464 feet away, (the length of a city block) and 50 seconds later return for the next bite. The material removed by this shovel in one month could fill all the cars in a train stretching from Pittsburgh to Chicago. In one day, the 115-cubic yard dipper will uncover enough coal to heat 7,500 homes for a month; the coal energy in that amount could power 20,000,000 washing machines.

The operator will take a private elevator to reach his air-conditioned "office," five stories up. He will control the machine with only two hand levers and two foot pedals, moving the half million pounds of material at speeds up to 25 miles per hour.

Bucyrus-Erie Company, South Milwaukee, Wis., is building the giant shovel for the Peabody Coal Co., St. Louis. It will be completed in two years, and component parts will be shipped to a mine site in western Kentucky by more than 250 railroad cars.

Erection will take six to seven months at the site. The mammoth excavator will lower the cost of mining deeply buried coal which otherwise could not be recovered by strip mining methods.
